

Team

Group 23

After careful assessment we agree that our way of working is in the “Performing” state. We feel we have passed the “Collaborating” state since we have an open line of honest communication, have gotten to know each other during the past weeks and work as a unit towards the team’s goal.

We feel that we still remain in the performing state since we have not perfected our ways of continuously adapting to changing contexts. Also, since the team is still relatively newly formed, we are still having to deal with some backtracking and reworking that could have been avoided.
